About Noah's Ark

Noah's Ark is a non-profit disaster preparedness organization founded in 2010. Our mission is to focus and invite leaders of churches, temples, synagogues and mosques to become community partners and learn to work together—so they can help rescue their church families & neighboring communities after a disaster strikes.

Shoji Ketchem was born in FL, yet started kindergarten in Germany. He was a "military brat" that often moved and in 1989, he joined the military and served a tour with the US Air Force in Saudi Arabia. Later studies involved a B.S. in Japanese from San Francisco State University and two graduate degrees. In 2010, he and his wife Corazon co-founded Noah's Ark & Co. – a non-profit disaster preparedness organization - to help bridge the gap communities face of not being prepared for disasters. The Ketchems currently live in Suwanee, GA and both of their teenage boys are students at North Gwinnett High School.

Buddy Toliver serves as the First Counselor in the Bishopric of the Suwanee Ward of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. He and Stacie have 3 children ages 13, 11 and 10. Buddy is actively involved in non-profit work, including serving on the Board of the Partnership Against Domestic Violence—an organization working to end the crime of intimate partner violence and empower its survivors. He works as a patent attorney at Cisco Systems. He enjoys gaming and spending time with his family.

Tryn Paxton is a wife and the mother of 4 children, ranging in age from 13 to 24. A graduate of Brigham Young University (BYU) with a master's degree in English, she taught writing classes at BYU and then the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, for several years, before choosing to stay home full-time with her children, where she turned her best efforts to mothering and homemaking.

During the years of intense child-rearing, she published short stories and articles in local and national periodicals, and for several years wrote and published a monthly newsletter, called One Mother to Another that had about 500 subscribers. Besides writing, mothering, and homemaking, she spent the last 17 years homeschooling 1 or more of her children and teaching community writing classes for homeschoolers. She now teaches 18 young piano students in her home. She is crazy about her husband, Robert and she is deeply grateful for the Gospel of Jesus Christ and the purpose and meaning it gives to her life.

Kaleem Bhatti works in the Corporate Education Industry as a training specialist for an IT company. Originally from England, he graduated with a B.S. in Computing and moved to Lawrenceville, GA 2 ½ years ago with his wife and 2 children. He has served as a volunteer for the Ahmadiyya Muslim Community (AMC) in various capacities but is presently responsible for public education and outreach here in GA. This involves establishing a dialogue with the wider community to understand how the true philosophy of Islam helps Muslims contribute to our society in a meaningful and positive way.

As a speaker for the local AMC, he emphasizes Islam's message that the "vital role of justice" needs to form the ethical framework for our society's dealings on all levels. He is also the fantastic artist for the KNOW YOUR NEIGHBOR promotional materials we all have been blessed with!

Amatul Wadood Syed has been living in Woodstock (GA) with her family for the past 8 years. She is a mother of 5 children (ages 13-27) and works as a Clinical Pharmacist at the Emory University Hospital (Midtown). Before calling GA home, she had the opportunity to live and work in many parts of the country including NJ, PA, MA, & CT. She also lived in Saudi Arabia for some time.

This year she consciously made a decision to say "yes" to more things than usual. Her accepting to be here doing this presentation today would be one. Her Yes to "travel" also allowed her to finish a 10-day World Cities Tour to Philadelphia, New York, London, Milan, Istanbul and Rome. She also said Yes to mentoring students at work, being captain of her team for the heart walk, and trying new foods and recipes! Yes, yes & more yes...
